

Colonel James (Darby) McNulty
Project Manager
IPPS-A Project Management Office

Colonel Darby McNulty has served as the Project Manager for the Integrated Personnel and Pay System-Army (IPPS-A), under the Program Executive Office Enterprise Information Systems (PEO EIS), since May 2014. He is responsible for the Army's integration and deployment of the largest implementation of PeopleSoft ever, which will join together Human Resources and Military Pay into an Enterprise Resource Planning (ERP) system.

After graduating from the U.S. Military Academy – West Point, Col. McNulty was commissioned in the Army's Field Artillery Branch. He spent over 10 years in the Field Artillery in numerous Artillery, Armor, Infantry and Cavalry units at Fort Bliss, Fort Sill, Fort Knox, Korea, Saudi Arabia/Iraq and Fort Lewis. He served as a Company, Troop, Squadron, Battalion and Brigade Fire Support Officer. Col. McNulty also served as a Battalion and Brigade Adjutant and commanded an M109A6 Paladin Firing Battery for two years. After graduating with his Master's Degree, he transitioned into the Acquisition Corps and served as the APM/Deputy for the NLOS Cannon and Mortar, served as Department of the Army Systems Coordinator (DASC) and as a Product Manager. Next, Col. McNulty served as the Office of the Assistant Secretary of the Army for Acquisition, Logistics and Technology (ASA (ALT)) Deputy Director for Systems Integration and the Assistant DPEO for Networks. From there, COL McNulty served as the Army Trail Boss for Capability Set (CS) 13 from start to finish and through all phases from design to fielding to OEF. COL McNulty most recently served as the Deputy Director, Acquisition Management, Acquisition Resources and Analysis, Office of the Under Secretary of Defense (Acquisition Technology & Logistics).

Col. McNulty is a 1990 graduate of the United States Military Academy – West Point, where he majored in Operations Research/Systems Engineering. Col. McNulty earned a Master's Degree from Purdue University's Krannert Graduate School of Management and spent 3 years on the Staff and Faculty at West Point as the Executive Officer for the U. S. Military Academy Admissions Directorate.